Further Reading

To accompany RIBA's publication, the Housing LIN and Levitt Bernstein have produced this separate Reading List that brings together a selection of further publications (not referenced in Age-Friendly Housing: Future design for older people) that you may find helpful as background reading. This has now been further updated (3rd edition, July 2019) to reflect a selection of further relevant reports that have been published since the New Year.

Readers are also encouraged to visit the Housing LIN's website at: www.housinglin.org.uk to access an extensive range of other free resources on designing, planning, commissioning, funding, developing and managing housing for an ageing population.

For more about Age-Friendly Housing: Future design for older people and how to order your copy from RIBA Bookshops, visit www.housinglin.org.uk/RIBA-age-friendly-housing/

About the Housing LIN

The Housing LIN is a sophisticated network bringing together over 25,000 housing, health and social care professionals in England, Wales and Scotland to exemplify innovative housing solutions for an ageing population.

Recognised by government and industry as a leading 'knowledge hub' on specialist housing, our online and regional networked activities:

- connect people, ideas and resources to inform and improve the range of housing choices that enable older and disabled people to live independently

- provide intelligence on latest funding, research, policy and practice developments, and

- raise the profile of specialist housing with developers, commissioners and providers to plan, and design and deliver aspirational housing for an ageing population.

To view a selection of other resources on designing age friendly housing and the built environment, visit the Housing LIN's online 'design hub' at: https://www.housinglin.org.uk/Topics/browse/Design-building/
