Health and Housing Conference:

Improve housing and improve health; building this case into the new public health system

■ Thursday 19 May – London

Member fee
£99.00
NO VAT

Following a successful event in 2010, the CIEH is holding its third annual Health and Housing one-day conference.

Focusing on how housing can contribute to improvements in health, this year's conference will identify how the new public health structure will support this. This conference will also identify ways in which housing teams and a range of health professionals and academics can work better together to improve health.

Programme highlights:

- Discuss how effective housing strategies (and interventions) could and should address health inequalities
- Help local authority EHPs in preparing their case for involvement and inclusion on the local Health & Wellbeing Boards
- Review good practice case studies, including a session on cost benefits associated with private sector housing
- Discuss the opportunities and threats for more effective working in the new public health world

This conference is accredited with five hours of CIEH CPD. Enhanced CPD available.
